Allover fine Swiss embroidery; ribbon drawn through the top; back of corded tucks, $1.50.

There's a reason—or several of them, for that matter. One is the general reputation of this department in past years.

Everybody knows that the Underwear on Sale in this store must measure up to a certain standard.

The materials and trimmings must be of the best. The garments must be liberal in cut and yet fit nicely.

The sewing, as we said the other day, must be the kind you'd do yourself, and the underwear must be the product of factories working under absolutely sanitary conditions.

All these requirements are fully met in this store.

French Hand-Made Underwear

Styles that we import exclusively—garments that are hand made throughout. These garments, like others, become mused and soiled from window and counter display.

While the prices were reasonable to begin with, we always make reductions when lots become broken or the articles tumbled and mused.

Gowns, $3, $3.50 and $5; were $4 to $8.50.
Drawers, $1.75; were $2.50.

You'll see that the prices are as low as much of the domestic underwear on sale.

Bedford Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BEDFORD CITY, May 16.—The convention of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs has ended, and is now past history, leaving a most pleasant remembrance of the session and of the fair visitors from many points that represented the women's clubs, each with some purpose of uplifting influence and aid for others in the battle of life.

An aftermath of the social courtesies extended the guests was a "tea" tendered by the Thursday Club, after the convention had closed, Thursday afternoon, given at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. T. Davidson, on West Main Street. The entire first floor was thrown open and presented a scene of rare loveliness, with the lavish display of splendid roses and other flowers arranged with most artistic and beautiful effect.

In an alcove of the hall where mock-orchestra was used as the decorations, stood the punch-bowl, amid the flowers, filled with the most delicious non-alcoholic fruit-ice compound that was most refreshing to the guests. Mrs. John S. Burks was the graceful dispenser. The guests were admitted by Misses Gwendolyn Johnston and Fannie Jeter. In pretty white frocks in the hall they were received by Mrs. E. D. Gregory, and presented to the hostess, Mrs. Davidson, and Mrs. E. S. Smith, president of the club, the contributing to the sociability and enjoyment of the occasion. Mrs. J. M. Smith conducted them to the punch-table, and Mrs. Walter J. Phillips to the refreshment rooms, which were charmingly decorated with red roses. The waitresses who dispensed the choice viands were Misses Ida Berry, Mattie Spencer, Louise Kasey, Virginia Hatcher, Ruth Parker and Miss John-son, all in lovely summer costumes. Thursday evening an entertainment was given at Belmont Theatre under the auspices of the Bedford Civic Improvement League that was most interesting and large attended. Mrs. S. B. Lambeth, the president, presided in his most happy style, giving inspiration and zest to all that occurred. Here, too, superb roses lent their aid in doing honor to the occasion, and the fair speakers who gave short talks on the following subjects limited by the sharp tap of the bell of the president to five minutes: "The City Beautiful," by Mr. George Johnson, of Bluefield; "How to Exterminate the Public Nuisance," Mrs. M. M. Caldwell, of Roanoke; "The Work of School Leagues," by Mrs. W. W. King, of Staunton; "What a School League Has Done for One School," by Miss Tate, of Staunton; a pleasant little talk on "Junior Civic Leagues," by Miss Elizabeth Gish, of Lynchburg; "Pure Food," by Mrs. Emma Fox, of Detroit, who, in conclusion paid a beautiful tribute of praise for the club women of Virginia; "Market Inspection," by Mrs. J. H. Kyle, of Lynchburg; "The Problem of the Backyard," by Mrs. Carrington, of Danville; Rev. Dallas Tucker made a most forcible talk on the "Relations Between Civic Improvement and Public Morality." Mrs. Carrington read very graceful resolutions of thanks in behalf of the committee, composed of herself, Mrs. E. C. Hammer, of Lynchburg, and Miss McDonald, of Alexandria, for hospitality and courtesies. Mrs. Kyle, the president of the Virginia Federation, expressed in most pleasing style thanks and adieu. These exercises were interspersed with piano duets by Miss Ida Berry and Mrs.

R. L. Elliott, "The Civic Betterment Rally Song" was sung by Mrs. Paul Bargman, with the chorus by the "Pickaninies," a company of little girls, famous in Bedford City entertainments, who closed the performance with a song, composed by a certain editor here, full of local hits.

is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Addie Wallace, of Leesburg.
Miss Anna Shepherd has returned to her home here after a visit of several weeks to Mrs. Frank Traxler, of Sunbury, Pa.
Mr. John Fauntleroy, son of the late Rev. Kinloch Fauntleroy, of Louisiana, has been the guest for several days of his aunt, Mrs. Samuel McCall.
Mrs. Louie Powell entertained at dinner on Friday evening in honor of her guests, Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, of Washington, and Captain Van Horn, U. S. A.
Mr. Conrad P. Carter, pitcher of the Philadelphia baseball team, spent the week-end with his father, Mr. George Carter, at his country home, near town.
